

Want to work for an innovative Start-up?

Do an internship/ Pflichtpraktikum with us (English/ German) – Couples Therapy

Our Product

We are creating a new category: the well-being games for couples. Our vision is to help couples lead healthy, lasting relationships. For this, we bring gaming into relationship-care. Self-care has become a mainstream topic in the last years. However, relationship-care is just now establishing and we are at the forefront of it – with our unique combination with gamification.

We started last year, building our prototype as part of an Accelerator. We have public funding which we are now using to build out our App for fundraising. We are a diverse team: company builder, serial entrepreneur, game designer, mobile developer...and you!

What you would be doing

- Create the content for our app (self learning courses, quizzes,..), test with users/ couples
- Optional: Write content for our social media and create videos – bring in your creative side

What we are looking for

- Studying psychology OR have practical therapy experience
- You love to learn new things and are creative to “get things done”
- You like to create things quickly rather than perfectly
- You are interested in start-ups and building an innovative new product to help couples

Ideally, but not a must:

- Speak German (but not a must have, English is also sufficient)
- You have practical experience in (couples) therapy, but not a must
- You are interested and start-ups and entrepreneurial minded

Timeframe & Location

- You are available as soon as possible
- Minimum 2 months, 20 hrs/ week minimum
- You can work remotely from anywhere

Benefits

- Start building up your own brand as therapist
- Learn how a start-up works and gain first hands experience
- You receive a lot of responsibility to develop the content/ product
- Very flexible and free working style and hours

Curious? Send us your CV & get to know us personally: heike@lovelane.co